First dispatches concerning the horror in this city, are not much out of the way. At first it was thought that they were greatly exaggerated, but such is not the case.

It is very likely that the full death list will reach 1,000.

The death list in the city alone will exceed 800, and the streets of the city are strewn with debris and dead bodies.

The situation baffles description. All the hospitals are full, and the injured will exceed 1,000 people.

The steamer Grand Republic, with 1,000 passengers, reached Alton in safety. Twenty boats were capsized or otherwise wrecked.

The list of dead at East St. Louis will reach two hundred, and great difficulty is experienced in identifying the bodies.

The full force of the cyclone struck that city. Its streets are strewn with wreckage and bodies.

The latest reports from surrounding towns in Missouri and Illinois confirm the first dispatches.

St. Louis, Mo., May 29.—Death and destruction reign supreme in St. Louis and vicinity as a result of the most terrible storm that ever visited this section of the country. Buildings of every description are in ruins, and, as a result, hundreds of people are reported dead and injured, but, until order is restored, it will be impossible to make any definite statement. Reports are in circulation that seven steamers lying at wharf boats on this and the East St. Louis side of the river have been sunk, with all on board.

The city was left in darkness, as the electric lights and trolley wires were blown down.

The storm broke out about 5 o'clock in the afternoon after a most oppressively hot day, and the rain began to fall. It soon developed into a fierce thunderstorm, with the wind from the east. A little later the wind had gained a velocity of eighty miles an hour, driving the rain before it and tearing loose signs, cornices, chimneys, and everything in its way. Many buildings of every description were demolished, and others set on fire by lightning and crossed wires.

The streets were full of people going home from work, and a panic ensued as soon as the storm broke. Men were buildings, horses and carriages were sent flying here and there, and falling wires, full of deadly fluid, added to the horror of the scene.

Suddenly the wind veered around to the west and completed the destruction. It is asserted by some of those who have traversed the downtown part of the city that there are but few buildings in St. Louis that have not suffered in some way from the storm. The wagon way of the Eads bridge on the East St. Louis side is a crumbling mass of mortar and stones, and parts of the tower and pier No. 1 have also been torn away. Thousands of dollars will not cover the damage to the bridge. An outbound accommodation train on the Chicago and Alton road was wrecked by a broken rail, but fortunately nobody among the passengers was hurt. A trolley car loaded with passengers bound for the west side is said to have fallen through to the railroad track below, but with what result is not yet known. The tanks of the Waters-Pierce Oil company on Gratiot street blew up, spreading destruction on every hand. Three stories of the Coe Manufacturing company's building, Ninth and Gratiot, and nearly half of the Wainwright brewery were blown down. The Summer high school, at Eleventh and Spruce; McDermott's saloon, Eleventh and Chesnut; the central emigrant station on the opposite corner, and Jere Shohan's livery stable, Eleventh and Walnut, were unroofed.

The roof of the republican convention hall was blown off. A twenty-four foot section of the western wall of the city jail went down, exposing the interior. It was during exercise hours and two hundred prisoners in the building were panic-stricken. They were too frightened to try to escape. The Consolidated Wire Works, Twenty-first and Pappin streets, was almost totally wrecked. Seven people are known to have been injured seriously by this wreck and many more are said to have been hurt by falling walls. The St. Louis Refrigerator and Woodenware Company's factory, Second and Park avenue, was completely destroyed by fire, caused by lightning. The loss is estimated at $300,000.

A rumor was widely circulated that the gas tank near the Consolidated wire-works, to the south of the Twenty-first street viaduct, had been blown over, and, in crushing in on the wire-works building, killed four men to a certainty, and possibly more. Liggett & Meyers' new tobacco factory, the largest in the West, was totally wrecked, and the loss of life there was great. Twenty dead bodies and many wounded have been recovered from this building. The scene in the river was appalling. Steamboats moored at their landings were torn away, turned over and sunk, drowning all on board. Many people were seen clinging to floating wreckage, and piteously appealing for help. At present it is impossible to estimate the lives lost. The hospitals are full of injured, and the morgue contains many dead, while numbers of slain lie everywhere among the ruins of the demolished buildings.

The Plant Flour mills, the St. Louis iron and steel works are demolished, and the immense Cupples block is partially destroyed. Dead and injured are being taken from the ruins.

A terrible feature of the storm was the blowing down of the city hospital. The entire north wing of the ramshackle old structure was blown away. Two patients were killed and a number seriously injured. How many of the unfortunates of the city resting in the hospital walls at the time the storm struck will die as a result of the exposure to the elements cannot be conjectured.

There was great loss of life in the path of the tornado. Down Pappin street and other thoroughfares in the path of the storm there is scarcely a house standing. Chateau avenue was almost blown off the earth from one end of the street to the other. Gratiot street is a heap of ruins. All along the most thickly settled portions of the city, just south of the railroad tracks in the Mill Creek valley, parties searched for bodies. Dozens of men, women and children are undoubtedly under the ruins, but nothing could be done in the way of rescue until daylight came and the terrible excitement the catastrophe caused had somewhat subsided.

The streets were almost impassable in places because of the piles of rubbish littering them. The entire southern portion of the city, as well as the lower downtown portion, was a mass of debris—trees, roofs, signs, and almost every imaginable sort of wreckage.

On account of the damage to the city hospital Health Commissioner Starkoff was forced to make arrangements for a temporary hospital in which to care for the injured. The House of the Good Shepherd building at Seventeenth and Pine streets was secured and in the chambers there were scenes enacted and sufferings endured that will live to the end of the existence of those who witnessed them. Ambulance after ambulance drove up and deposited at the gates the torn and maimed. Moans and cries of anguish sounded through the old building. All night long a corps of doctors, assisted by sisters of the Good Shepherd, cared for the wounded. The dead were carried away to the morgue as fast as possible, out through the rows of cots on which reposed the racked bodies of the injured.

Returns from the St. Louis races are received at the track at Lakeside, Ind., and a few minutes after 5 o'clock the operator sending the report of the races stopped his work long enough to remark: "There goes the grandstand." Then his wire collapsed and nothing more was heard from him. In a few seconds the same message was reported from Lexington, Ky., with the additional information that fully 150 people were dead. This information was subsequently corroborated by the operator of the Wabash road at Decatur, who said that in his second message received from East St. Louis it was declared that the grand stand at the races was down and that fully 150 people were buried in the ruins.

At East St. Louis the destruction seemed greatest. H. C. Rice, Western Union manager at the relay depot, climbed across the demolished bridge and reported the National hotel, the Tremont House, the Martell House, the DeWolf cafe, the Hezel Milling company's mill, Horn's cooper shop, and a great many dwellings east of there as far as Fifth street, gone and many people killed. The Baltimore and Ohio and Vandalia round-house, the Standard oil works, the East St. Louis and Crescent elevators, and twelve freight-houses on the levee, are demolished. East St. Louis is in total darkness, and it is impossible to get any accurate estimate of the number of lives lost there.

EFFECTS FELT IN IOWA.
Weather Service Warns People in Time to Save Lives.

Creston, Iowa, May 28.—Predictions received here from the government weather bureau service warned the inhabitants of heavy windstorms. The report was exaggerated locally, and a cyclone reported coming. On the strength of the prediction the public schools were dismissed. Late in the afternoon the wind attained a high velocity, and many sought shelter in caves and cellars. No damage is reported.

Tuesday night a violent windstorm north of the city wrecked sheds and outbuildings. Few farmers are in the city, and the extent of the damage cannot be ascertained.

Kansas City, Mo., May 28.—Severe storms, which, at some points, almost assumed the proportions of a cyclone, prevailed in Central Kansas and Southern Missouri Monday night and Tuesday morning, doing more or less damage. No reports of casualties are received. Heavy rains were experienced at Sterling, Great Bend and Wichita, Kan. In Missouri they were more severe, and at Golden City, Warrensburg and Springfield considerable damage was wrought, several houses being damaged. At Springfield a terrific wind prevailed. The First Baptist church, Metropolitan hotel, Arlington hotel and Springfield Furniture company's factory had roofs partly blown off and fruit trees in that neighborhood were stripped.

ELSEWHERE IN MISSOURI.

Reports of Death and Destruction Come from All Points.

Baldwin, Mo., May 28.—A hurricane, accompanied by a terrific rain and hail storm, passed over St. Louis County about 4:30 Wednesday afternoon. For three hours rain fell in torrents and hail fell to a depth of several inches. Great damage was done to crops throughout this section of the country. Several buildings were blown down, but so far as can be learned no one in this section was seriously injured.

Sturgeon, Mo., May 28.—A cyclone passed three miles north of Sturgeon at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. At Renick three men were seriously injured, and a family of colored people were carried over a mile, two children being badly hurt. Friendship church, north of town, was demolished.

Moberly, Mo., May 28.—Ten people were killed in a tornado which struck the village of Labadie, Franklin county, Wednesday evening, and the town of Renick, ten miles from Moberly, in Randolph county, was completely wiped out. Nothing definite from either place.

Mexico, Mo., May 28.—A cyclone swept across Audrain county Wednesday evening, doing great damage to crops and wrecking many buildings. Seven people have been killed in the county and probably twenty-five badly injured. In the Bean creek district a school house was carried completely away, and a daughter of Joseph B. Ware, one of the pupils, was killed, and Lulu Eubanks and Hilda Blase, also school children, were fatally injured. Others along the route of the tornado in this district, whose names cannot be learned, are more or less injured. At the Dye school house, six or eight miles further southeast, not a pupil escaped uninjured, and five children were killed, three outright, two dying later at this place. The school house was utterly demolished and several of the children were blown a great distance away, and were not found until several hours afterward, and then in a mutilated condition.

TRAIN HAS A NARROW ESCAPE.

Chicago & Alton Accommodation Just Crosses the Eads Bridge.

Carlinville, Ill., May 28.—Reports of the cyclone at East St. Louis are meager at present. The accommodation on the Chicago and Alton had just crossed the Eads bridge when the east approach went down, turning over the two rear coaches on their sides, and all the windows in the train were broken. The smoker and baggage car remained on the track. The passengers were badly shaken up, but none seriously hurt.

The relay depot at East St. Louis is a total wreck and fire is reported breaking out in East St. Louis. The river is rising rapidly and is sweeping everything before it. At Venice it is nearly in the depot building. The Chicago and Alton has been compelled to abandon all trains from the south on account of a bad washout at Miles, there being no chance to reach Alton. From the best information obtainable it appears that all the railway connections south of here with St. Louis are flooded or washed out. All the country south of here is flooded, there being a regular waterspout.

EIGHTY PUPILS KILLED.

Buried in a School Building Which Is Storm-Wrecked.

Kansas City, Mo., May 28.—Alton train dispatcher reports eighty children killed at Drake, near Roodhouse, Ill., by the cyclone. They were buried in a school building.

Drake, where seventy children are reported killed, is a small town in Greene county, and 240 miles from Chicago on the Chicago, Kansas City and Denver short line of the Alton railroad. It is five miles west of Roodhouse, a junction point on the Alton road, and 15 miles southwest of Bloomington, and directly in the track of the furious storm. It is approximately sixty miles northwest of St. Louis, and about midway between Chicago and Kansas City. It has a Western Union telegraph station.

INDIANA ESCAPES.

Cyclone Had Spent Its Force Before Reaching the State.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—From reports up to midnight Wednesday the storm seems to have largely spent its force before invading Indiana, though this city experienced a stiff blow at 10 o'clock. In the western portion of the state, in Fountain and Warren counties the wind had a high velocity, and some barns were unroofed and trees broken down, but no loss of life or serious damage has been reported.

Deaths So Far Reported.

Chicago, May 28.—The latest reports indicate the probable number of people killed by the terrific cyclone which struck St. Louis and vicinity at 5:15 Wednesday afternoon to be as follows:

St. Louis, Mo., 300 to 1,000.
East St. Louis, Ill., 150 to 300.
Labadie, Mo., 10.
Rush Hill, Mo. (doubtful), 50.
Drake, Ill. (unconfirmed), 80.

Will Aid for Sufferers.

Lansing, Mich., May 28.—The result of the cyclone disaster in Michigan has assumed such proportions that Governor Rich left for that locality, and will spend the remainder of the week in a personal inspection of the path of devastation and will subsequently issue a proclamation calling for contributions, being satisfied that local aid will be insufficient.

Fifty Children Killed.

Chicago, May 28.—Officials of the Chicago and Alton received a telegram at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, from Rush Hill, Mo., a small place in Audrain county, twelve miles from Mexico. The wind struck Rush Hill about 4 o'clock. The school-house filled with children, was crushed before the pupils could escape. The fifty children in the school-house are reported killed.

Fruit Trees Damaged in Michigan.

Benton Harbor, Mich., May 28.—A heavy wind and rain storm, accompanied by high wind and hail, swept over this section Wednesday afternoon, doing much damage to fruit and shade trees and unroofing many buildings. Fully one-fourth of the peaches in its wake were blown off, but this is a benefit, as the trees were loaded heavier than they could mature.

Dead Estimated at Five Hundred.

New York, May 28.—The following message has been received at the New York office of the St. Louis Republic, in the Times building:

"St. Louis, Mo., May 28.—3 a. m.—To Republic Bureau, New York.—Impossible to give more than a rough estimate of the damage and loss of life here and at East St. Louis. Probably 500 or 600 killed; twice that number injured. We have rumors of cyclone at Moberly, Warrensburg and other towns in Missouri. Thirty killed at Vandalia, Ill. Local situation terrible. "THE REPUBLIC."

MURDERED THEM ALL.

Entire Household of Col. R. P. McGlinchy Butchered.

San Jose, Cal., May 28.—Col. R. P. McGlinchy and wife, their daughter, Mrs. James Dunham, James Wells, a son of Mrs. McGlinchy; a hired woman, Minnie Schesler; and a hired man, James Briscoe, were killed at Campbell by James Dunham, a son-in-law of Col. McGlinchy, who made his escape. The interior of the rooms where the bodies of the victims lay was bespattered with blood, and there was every evidence that the murdered victims had made a desperate struggle for their lives. One of the officers returned to the city from the scene and said:

"The scene at the McGlinchy home is almost beyond the powers of description. In the reception room was found the body of Wells. Evidently a terrible struggle had taken place between Wells and the assassin. Wells was shot two or three times. In the room adjoining no bodies were found, but the furniture was smashed into fragments, showing a fearful fight had taken place there."

"Adjoining the dining room was the apartment occupied by Mrs. McGlinchy. There she was found literally slashed to pieces with a hatchet. Blood was everywhere, and, as in the room of Wells, there was evidence of a terrible struggle having taken place between the poor woman and her fiendish son-in-law. The other victims were found in other apartments."

The last seen of Dunham he was riding rapidly toward San Jose on horseback. Family troubles are said to have caused the murder.

The only being in the house who escaped alive was a baby 1 month old, the child of Mrs. Dunham and the alleged murderer.

ARE HARD TO IDENTIFY.

Victims of Victoria's Frightful Disaster Were Mostly Visitors.

Seattle, Wash., May 28.—The Post-Intelligencer's special from Victoria, B. C., says that the victims of Tuesday's terrible catastrophe are hard to identify, as the majority were visitors. Fifty-seven bodies have thus far been identified. There are others whose names cannot be ascertained and still more, undoubtedly, whose bodies have not yet been recovered from the water.

On the surface of Victoria Arm struggling people fought to gain the shore. Strong men and frail women battled for their lives. Husbands emerged from the wreckage only to find that their wives had gone down to death. Children were carried down by those who were stronger, and fathers who had struggled from beneath the debris of the bridge and carriages returned to their doom in vain endeavors to rescue their babes. The waters of the Arm for yards around were dyed red with blood and, floating out to sea, went corpse after corpse, borne on by the tide.

An Ellis Junction Business Man
Killed by Cars.

Hortonville, Wis., May 28.—Twelve miles south of here, near the village of Readfield, lives a family named Drews. Yesterday Mr. Drews and his wife drove to Readfield, leaving their two little boys, aged three and six years, at home. During their absence the older boy got out an old musket and in play aimed it at his little brother and fired. Strange as it may seem, the little one still lives and is conscious. He may recover.

SILVER MEN ARE IN CONTROL

White Metal Prohibitionists Supreme at the Pittsburg Convention.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 28.—The chief proceedings of the first day's session of the National Prohibition convention were a fight between the broad gauge or free silver faction and the single issue or gold standard delegates from the east. The free silver faction carried the day, however, and at 6 o'clock in the evening elected C. W. Stewart, of Illinois, permanent chairman over A. A. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, who was backed by the gold standard delegates.

Mr. Stevens, the temporary chairman, briefly reviewed the history of the Prohibition party, telling the causes which led up to its organization. In conclusion he said the Republicans would, at their convention, declare for tariff reform, the Democrats for sound money, and the Prohibitionists for free silver. Each had a dominant issue to advocate. The Prohibition party should now come forward with its dominant issue. It should have prohibition and none other. He was loudly applauded when he had finished.

At this point Mr. Dickie who had neglected to name a temporary secretary in behalf of the national committee. The gentleman chosen was A. E. Wilson, of Illinois. There were no objections, and the chairman directed the secretary to call the roll by states for the announcement of committees and members, after which a recess was taken until 3 o'clock to give the committees opportunity to act. After recess Mrs. Helen M. Gouga chairman of the committee on permanent organization, reported recommending C. W. Stewart (silverite) of Illinois, for permanent chairman of the convention. Mr. Ferguson offered a minority narrow-gauge report, recommending A. A. Stevens for permanent chairman.

After an hour of wild disorder A. A. Stevens withdrew his name, and O. W. Stewart, candidate of the silver faction, was unanimously elected, and the convention adjourned until to-day.

Will Insure Methodist Churches.

Cleveland, O., May 28.—The M. E. general conference Wednesday decided to enter the insurance business. This action caused a great deal of opposition, and, though sharply opposed, it carried in the end. The question came up on the report of the committee on state of the church, which recommended the formation of a mutual insurance company for the insurance of church property, the affairs of which were to be placed in the hands of a board of insurance. The report was accepted. The Christian Endeavor society was given the cold shoulder by the adoption of a report deprecating the organization of any societies of Christian Endeavor in the Methodist church.

Vermont Democrats for Gold.

Montpelier, Vt., May 28.—At the democratic state convention Wednesday the platform adopted declares on the money question as follows: "We demand the maintenance of a gold standard of value as being for the true interest of all our people, and especially of those who are obliged to labor for what they receive, and we are opposed to the free coinage of silver except under international agreement." Other planks commend the administration of Grover Cleveland, and especially his Venezuelan message; express sympathy with the Cubans; denounce the republican protection theory and favor a tariff for revenue, not fostering trust nor unnecessarily interfering with business interests.

McGraw May Go to the Senate.

Seattle, May 27.—A meeting of the republicans in Seattle was held last evening for the purpose of advancing the candidacy of John H. McGraw, now governor of the state, for the seat in the senate at present held by Watson C. Squire.

THE C. & N. W. ROAD IS MAKING MONEY

FACT BEARS ON THE NEW DEPOT PROPOSITION.

The Wall Street Journal's Market Letter Says the Gross Earnings Are the Largest in the Company's History—Crop Prospects in Its Territory Are Excellent.

Janesville people are much interested in the prosperity of the C. & N. W. Railway Co. These days, as the building of a new depot will be largely influenced by the financial success of the road. The Wall Street Journal's daily market letters sum up the situation as follows:

"The Northwestern annual meeting will be held in Chicago, Thursday, June 4. The company's fiscal year ends May 31, and on account of the brief time between the closing of the fiscal year and the annual meeting only an approximate annual statement can be made to the stockholders at that time, the detailed report coming out some weeks later.

"For eleven months of the fiscal year Northwest increased its gross earnings $5,109,853 or 19.88 per cent and of this gross increase $4,600,000 was from freight traffic. So far in the month of May, gross earnings have shown a very considerable increase and the fiscal year will, therefore, show gross earnings of about $33,300,000 or the largest gross earnings of any year in the company's history. The large gross earnings prior to 1896 were in 1893 when they were $42,709,747.

The Surplus Is Large

"Net earnings have increased in proportion to the gross, although in the last few months there have been many construction and capital items charged to operating expenses. The net results are expected to be the largest in the company's history and, although interest and rentals have increased, the surplus after dividends will be the largest in ten years, or since 1887, when the surplus after dividends was $2,612,271.

"Northwest could very readily increase the rate of dividend on both its common and preferred stock, the common being entitled to 7 per cent., but the board of directors believes that it is wise policy to continue dividends on the common stock on the basis of 5 per cent. and the dividends declared the first week in June will be 3 1/2 on the preferred stock and 2 1/2 on the common.

"During the year the company has issued no bonds, but provided for its sinking funds and made important betterments. In normal years the company constructs side tracks to the equivalent of a single track road from New York to New Haven, and this year has been no exception. The elevation of the railroad tracks of Chicago, has also received attention.

"Fremont-Elkhorn lines in the 1895 year failed to earn charges into $335,195. This year, they will turn over to the parent company surplus earnings of several hundred thousand dollars.

"The annual report will contain details of the construction of a new road in Wisconsin from the lake to the state border running through a very important hardwood timber belt where the company has a very large land grant. The company itself will build the road and about sixty miles of it will be completed this year. It will have from the beginning a heavy timber tonnage and the lands will be immediately available for settlement.

To Write Off Surplus.

"Some years ago the company arbitrarily wrote off something over $10,000,000 from its surplus account. This year a similar writing off will take place, eliminating from both sides of the balance sheet various accounts which it is deemed best to write off.

"With this writing off, Northwest will have devoted something over $35,000,000 from earnings to improvements, acquisitions of property, etc., against which no securities have ever been issued.

"The iron ore traffic so far this year is considerably better than it was in the corresponding period last year.

"A prominent feature in the report will be the changes in equipment. The company has broken up several thousands of its 10-ton cars and substituted therefor twenty and thirty ton cars which are now necessary for economical operation of the road.

"Crop prospects in the company's territory, particularly in Nebraska and South Dakota, are extremely good, but it is not expected that the wheat crop will be as large this year as it was last."

New City Directory.

Captain Eldridge, of the Union Publishing Co. has arranged with C. V. Kerch, civil engineer, to correct his map of the city, with all additions, streets and extensions up to date. This map will then be reduced to the proper size for the new city directory. As the cost of producing the etching alone will be fifty dollars, it is evident that the company will spare no cost in preparing a directory that will be a credit to the city.

Hoxie were laid to rest in a quiet little cemetery. As we look over the years that are past, we think of her as the kind friend, always ready to help those in distress and sympathize with those in trouble. After a long and useful life she has gone to her reward. Our sympathy goes out to the husband and son who mourn for a loving wife and mother. May they always think of her as enjoying that perfect rest and peace that Our Father has promised those who love Him.

SUGAR WILL BE HIGHER SOON

When Janesville Housewives Do Their Canning—Cuba; Troubles the Cause

The trouble in Cuba not only threatens to cut off the supply of choice Havanas for men but strikes a blow at the queens of the household. When Janesville housewives get ready to put up fruit this summer and fall they will in all probability be called upon to pay more for sugar than they have in some years past. There will be a shortage in the production this year greatly in excess of last year's over production. The exact figures are as follows:

The supply of the world from July, 1894, to July, 1895, was about 800,000 tons in excess of consumption. The supply from July, 1895, to July, 1896, was estimated at 1,300,000 tons under the preceding year. The 800,000 excess did not suffice to carry over that year and for the following year it was difficult to see how anything like an adequate supply could be forthcoming. Prices, therefore, must rise.

When asked what could be done to meet the inadequate supply, a local dealer who is posted said: "There is nothing for it but a reduction in consumption, which can be best brought about by higher prices. Stocks are now running low and will continue to do so rapidly. The visible supply of the world, now about 1,900,000 tons, he estimated would be reduced to about 300,000 tons by October."

The shortage was entirely due to the troubles in Cuba. American refiners hold very small stocks, and are expected to go to London markets shortly for supplies.

EXTRA POLICE FOR BIG PICNIC

Twenty Extra Men Will Be Sworn In—Railroad Detectives Coming.

An extra police force of at least twenty men will be sworn in for duty during the Woodmen picnic on June 10. Chief of Police Acheson said this morning that he thought with the present force, twenty extra men would be sufficient to take care of the city on that day, for the patrol wagon will be kept in a handy place to answer all calls. Both local railroads, besides providing extra men about the depots, will send a number of their best detectives, who will keep a sharp lookout for the thieves who are sure to follow such a crowd as will be here.

AN ACCIDENT AT THE SAND PIT

Car Was Derailed and The Wrecking Crew Sent For.

The first accident to take place in the Northwestern gravel pit near this city happened because of the derailing of a car. Work was at a standstill for some time. The accident happened while a loaded train was leaving the pit. In some manner the rails spread and overturned one car. The wrecking crew made a flying trip from this city and the matter was righted in short order.

The house was handsomely decorated with roses intertwined with smilax, while numerous beautiful palms harmonized artistically with the brighter blooms. The affair was a charming event for all concerned.

Patriotic Social to Be Held By the City Union of Endeavorites.

In the Sunday school rooms of the Congregational church ward caucuses will be held, a city convention will nominate city officers and voters will express their preferences at the polls. Five ward caucuses will be organized first, everybody voting in his own ward. Then the city convention will be held and mayor, city clerk, city treasurer and weed commissioner named. Votes will be cast at three polling booths during the remainder of the evening and ice cream and cake will be served, affording candidates the strongest temptation to bribe voters.

RESOLUTIONS FOR GEN. FAIRCHILD

National W. R. C. Send Out a Beautiful Tribute to His Memory.
The following beautiful tribute to General Fairchild is sent out from the national headquarters of the W. R. C.:
HONOR'S WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS,
AUX'Y TO G. A. OF THE REPUBLIC,
29 TEMPLE PLACE, BOSTON, MAY 25, 1896.
GENERAL ORDERS,
No. 6.

While the birds were singing and the bells chiming their sweetest anthems on our Memorial Sunday, there came like a wave of sadness to the hearts of the Grand Army and the Woman's Relief Corps the news that

GENERAL LUCIUS FAIRCHILD, PAST COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC, had marched down to the shore of the silent river, had crossed over, and in the presence of the Great Commander of us all, joined the majority of his old command. To his bereaved family we tender our sincere sympathy, and pray that He who has them in His keeping will comfort them. The Grand Army of the Republic will mourn a leader gone, a wise counselor in their meetings, and the hand-clasp of a loved comrade. The country has lost a statesman that has left behind him an example of patriotism and integrity.

The Woman's Relief Corps has lost a valued friend. His sage advice in the earlier days of our organization has borne good fruit, and we are a greater help to the Order he loved and honored, for his wise counsel.

I recommend that each Corps, after reading this order, express by vote their appreciation of his great services to our country, to the Grand Army of the Republic and our organization, and have the same spread upon the records of the Corps. By command of LIZABETH A. TURNER,
National President.

HARRIETTE L. REED,
National Secretary.

COURT STREET IN BAD SHAPE.

Correspondent Counted Nine Swimming Holes After the Rain.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—The condition of South Main street and Court street from Main to the bridge, throws Potter's lake into the shade completely. After the rain I counted nine pools of water between Main street and the bridge. I believe A. C. Kent has offered to block his half of the street in front of his property at his own expense. Is not this a good opportunity for the city and others to repair this street and render it a passable and clean thoroughfare—a credit and not a disgrace to the city. The southern end of Main street should also be remedied as early as possible. OBSERVER.

ALMERON EAGER A CANDIDATE

He Will Run For the Assembly Supported by Evansville Republicans.

Another aspect of the assembly race has developed since the county board began its special session. Almeron Eager has been suggested as an available candidate several times, but absence from the state has kept him from making the race. His friends made positive announcements of his candidacy last evening, and he will enter the field, although doing nothing to interfere with the canvas made by O. C. Brink for sheriff.

BIKERS MUST CARRY LIGHTS AND BELLS

NEW CITY ORDINANCE IS IN PREPARATION.

May be Presented to the Council at the Next Meeting of That Body—Hard to Get Up a Fair Regulation—Wheelmen Want the Measure Adopted.

In all probability, a "bicycle ordinance" will be presented to the common council at the next meeting of that body. The Arrow Cycling club has been discussing the need of such an ordinance for some time, and the members are strongly in favor of the adoption and enforcement of such a measure, in order to protect both rider and public.

"The matter of having a good ordinance regulating the riding of bicycles is an important one and ought to be kept before the public until some action is taken in regard to it," said a well known lawyer, who is also a bicycle rider. "A good bicycle ordinance is a hard thing to get, and the city that has one is fortunate. There are extreme laws regarding the rights of wheelmen in some cities, while in others there are no laws whatever in regard to the matter. There are extreme views taken of this matter in every city. These views are held by the crank pedestrian on one hand who wants the bicycle rider relegated to obscurity with no privileges nor rights whatever, Cranks of Both Sides.

On the other hand there is the over enthusiastic, or the "smart Aleck," rider who considers his rights paramount to all others. Of course in this matter, as in all others, the extreme opinions are most prominently aired, while the unprejudiced thinker says but very little. An ordinance in order to be satisfactory, must not be based on either of the extreme views. There is a happy medium plane where the rights of the pedestrian and of the wheelmen can be made to coincide, and upon that the satisfactory ordinance must be based. There is no reason why the rights of these two classes of our citizens should clash and I understand that an ordinance that will be fair to all is in the course of preparation. It will provide for the carrying of bells at all times, and a light at night."

BEDRIDDEN.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF SUFFERING.

The Doctors Wanted Seven Hundred Dollars to Attempt the Case.

The following is a letter we received a short time ago from Mrs. M. C. Hinkley, 602 North Mississippi St., Indianapolis, Ind.:

Gentlemen:—While suffering intensely from piles, I became interested in your advertisement in one of our daily papers and procured a package of your Pyramid Pile Cure from our druggist. Contrary to my expectations, the relief was instantaneous. I used two boxes of the Pile Cure and one of the Pills and am convinced that they are the only sure cure for piles on the market. I have been a sufferer from piles for fifteen years and have been confined to my bed about one-half of the time, expecting and wishing for death for the pain was so great. I went to the college here and the doctors said my case was a new one to them, the great pain having brought on a large rupture, which they wanted seven hundred dollars to cut out. I was very much afraid that death would result from the blood-poisoning which they said would result from the operation. I feel as though I can't praise the Pyramid Pile Cure and the Pyramid Pills too highly, as I am convinced that they saved my life. Before using your cure I weighed only ninety pounds and now I weigh one hundred and fifty and feel as well as I ever did in my life. You are at liberty to use this testimonial in any manner you may see fit, as I want all sufferers from this terrible disease to know that there has at last been compounded a remedy that will cure piles.

Mrs. M. C. HINKLEY.
There is no need of the danger, pain and expense of a surgical operation for any form of piles. The Pyramid Pile Cure does the work without pain and is the safest and best. Remember also that the Pyramid Pills are a certain cure for constipation, acting without griping and restoring natural action of the bowels.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00, and the Pyramid Pills at 25 cents, or by mail from Pyramid Co., Albion, Mich.

A new style we received this morning. A. Richardson Shoe Co.

HIS RECORD ALL RIGHT.

Do all they can the bosses can't make business men believe that McKinley's financial record is unsound. They point out that in 1877 he voted for the free silver bill that passed congress and was vetoed by President Hayes. They are confronted, however, with the fact that when the vote was taken silver was substantially at par with gold. Up to 1876 its market price had been higher than gold. It declined a little in that year, and in 1877, had risen again to very nearly the level of gold. For forty-two of the preceding forty-three years it had been so much dearer than gold that it had disappeared from circulation. It was a very general belief at that time that free coinage would maintain it at par with gold, especially as at that time the Latin union had not yet suspended the free coinage of silver. It was in that belief that three quarters of the republican members of the house and a large majority of those in the senate voted with Major McKinley for the bill. Among those who were with him in supporting the bill were Hon. William Aldrich of Illinois, father of the present representative from that state, who is one of the leaders of what was the anti-McKinley faction; W. D. Kelley, the recognized leader at that time of the republican side of the house; Hon. Charles Foster, since secretary of the treasury; Joseph G. Cannon, of Illinois, now chairman of the appropriations committee; Jacob D. Cox, of Ohio, former secretary of the treasury; Henderson, of Illinois, and Conger, of Michigan, well known republican leaders.

The silver question was in a very different position then from what it became in subsequent years, when, with the rapid depreciation of silver, the Latin union was forced to suspend the coinage of silver. And these eminent republicans, who voted under the then existing conditions, might well have believed that by coming to the support of the Latin union by the free coinage of silver in the United States, this country could arrest its decline and maintain the parity of the two metals. This was according to the received view of the most eminent bimetalists of that time. It was an error, but it was an error which was entirely excusable in a young congressman who had not yet had occasion to study the money question. The question took a very different aspect in later years, when silver had far advanced on the downward path which indicated its permanent decline. And when it came up in subsequent periods McKinley's voice and vote were always squarely against the free coinage of silver.

A FALSE CATCHWORD.

The New York Sun appeals to its wayward democratic readers to give up the use of the catchword "bimetalism." "Free coinage of gold and silver" it points out, is bimetalism, according to the dictionary alone. According to the practical idea that bimetalism means the use of the two metals as currency, permanent and continuous, the dictionary must be discarded as a humbug; and, according to experience, bimetalism, any way is out of the question. The sooner that bimetalism is put on the list of unrealities, the better for the business of the world, and particularly, just at present, for the business of the United States.

The most precious metal known bears the name of didymium. It costs three hundred golden dollars an ounce. If gold and didymium were coupled in bimetalism at the old gold and silver ratio of 1 to 16, didymium dollars would be confined to the cabinets of the coin collectors. There wouldn't be any in use. The commercial value of either metal wouldn't be altered a cent's worth, and the majesty of an international agreement or an American statute making coinage at that ratio free to both, wouldn't bring an ounce of the more precious one to the mint. We should have a system of gold as monometallic as it is today. In the same way, if silver were permitted to be coined free, we should have no more gold coinage. We should have a monometallic silver currency without even so much as a gilt edge.

In whatever way the free silver men talk, the issue they stand for is silver monometallism, worth fifty cents on the present dollar, against the present gold monometallism. There would be, however, this great difference, that while our gold standard currency is enlarged with millions of dollars in silver, with a silver standard, there wouldn't be a dollar of gold.

When the Woodmen gathered in Madison they complained that they couldn't get enough to eat for love or money. Forty thousand people read a good many rations and Janesville people shouldn't be sparing in their preparations.

Dollars are being made out of pure silver by San Francisco Chinese, and put on the market at a profit of 84 per cent. That's what the mine-owners want to do on a large scale.

Rock county will be well represented in the next legislature, if the sort of material that is being presented is any indication.

If she does nothing else thoroughly Janesville must see that no Woodman goes away complaining of not having enough to eat.

The prudent boss is the one who reserves a seat on the McKinley wagon before his own chariot goes to smash.

RIGHT OF ASSEMBLY.

Two Reports on Control of Presbyterian Seminaries.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 28.—At the opening of the morning session of the Presbyterian assembly on Wednesday, the report of the committee on conference with theological seminaries was read. Following is the gist of the report:

As a result of conference and correspondence, Princeton, Omaha and Dubuque seminaries and Lincoln university in Pennsylvania have literally or substantially adopted in whole or in part, the recommendation of the assembly looking to seminary control by the assembly and have either taken steps to secure appropriate legislation or expressed their willingness to do so. The Western Theological seminary, at Allegheny, has agreed to endeavor to obtain a general law which would accomplish the same end, and has appointed a committee for that purpose. The other seminaries, McCormick, Lane, Auburn and San Francisco, have refused to consider the action taken last year. The plea of the committee has in view "An effective, practical and constitutional method of safeguarding the teaching and property of the seminaries."

A minority report signed by Dr. George D. Baker, of Philadelphia, recommended the compact of 1870, the concurrent resolution No. 9 of the assembly of 1869, in reference to synodical or assembly control of seminaries, and all acts of the assembly granting powers of self-control to seminaries be rescinded. It is also recommended that the legislation be formulated which shall put into effect the assembly's constitutional and charter rights over Princeton, Western, McCormick, Danville, Dubuque, Newark and Omaha seminaries, and Auburn, Lane and San Francisco seminaries be requested to grant the same rights to the assembly.

The report of the committee on foreign missions was presented by Dr. Benjamin C. Henry, of Canton, China. It showed that the board of foreign missions received $879,749, expended $929,239, and reported a debt of $76,770.

The reunion fund brought in $92,357 to the board. One hundred and eleven legacies have been received and 155 are on the files. The cost of administration was $54,310. The board has 654 missionaries in commission. The small debt of the board was due to a reduction of $100,000 in appropriations.

This Beautiful Vehicle

Is just out and a wonder to the trade, being constructed upon entirely new lines, hand carved body, latest shape, solid foot dash, silver rope rail around rear of body, and, while it is very light, like all the buggies manufactured by the Terre Haute Buggy Co., the construction is such that it is the most roomy vehicle of the kind ever before presented to the buggy world. It well merits the great sale it is meeting with. You can see this vehicle at our show rooms.

EARLY SUMMER MUST-HAVE'S

It's absolutely necessary to have one, and in many cases, all, of the things we talk on in this ad.

For instance, hot weather makes the keeping of the food and eatables generally untainted—a rather hard task unless your refrigerator is in good shape. You should have one large enough to keep all the table stuff in.

THE ILLINOIS AUTOMATIC combined Refrigerator and Water Cooler is the best on the market. We handle other kinds as well and think you should see them before you buy.

Why not keep the lawn nicely cut and have it look as well as your neighbors? We can give you a good

LAWN MOWER FOR $2.75 and have better ones for a little more money. Our stock is large.

SCREEN DOORS & WINDOWS

A great stock of them. The kind you don't have to swear about while putting them in or taking them out. You can't kick about the price they are so cheap.

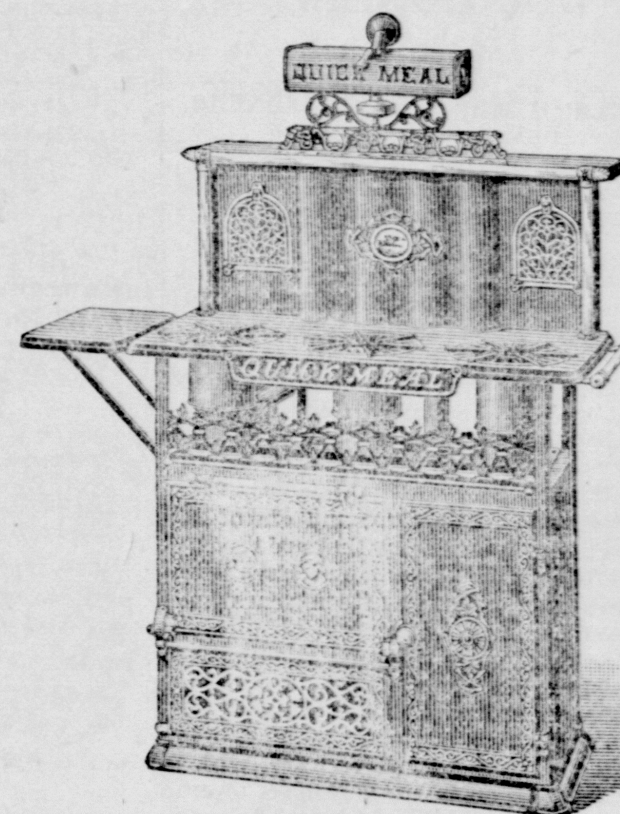

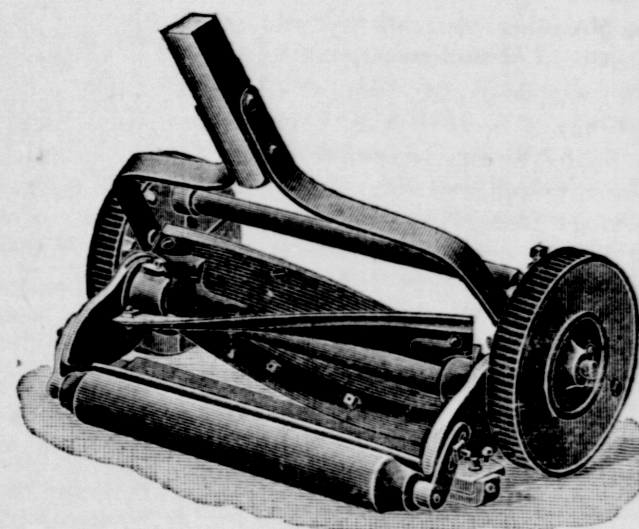

CLEVELAND SEAMLESS HOSE

No seam to leak or rot. It lasts twice as long as other Hose and is cheaper in the long run.

AT THE AMATEUR REHEARSAL.

The Star Rode a Wheel in a Pink Silk Gown.

"I think you were to enter on the right instead of the left," said the manager, according to the San Francisco Examiner. "Yes, that would be a great deal better."

"But the left side of my hair is much prettier than the right," said the star, decidedly. "I can always do it better. The left has got to be toward the audience."

"But you will have to face Sir Thomas anyway, and he is over here by the side-board," the manager explained.

"Well, we'll turn the stage around," said the star, cheerfully.

"I'm afraid that will confuse the others," said the manager, apologetically. "You see, there are only a few more rehearsals, and they have all practiced this way."

"They can easily get accustomed to it," said the star. "In an amateur play looks do make such a difference. I've been in loads of them. Of course you are used to professionals, and that is quite different, I suppose they have to be fussy about exits and cues and things like that."

"Yes, we consider them quite essential," murmured the manager.

"With amateurs it's all clothes and looks," went on the star. "Now, tell me, would you wear pink Dresden silk or white moire in the second scene? I can't make up my mind."

"But, considering it is a garden scene and you come in on a wheel—"

"I won't wear a bicycle rig," broke in the star. "They don't suit my style at all. I'll do anything but that."

"I suppose the bicycle might be left out altogether," said the manager, with a perplexed frown. The star turned on him indignantly.

"Leave it out after I've broken half the furniture in the drawing room and ruined the carpet and torn three dresses learning that entrance!" she exclaimed. "Indeed, I won't. The audience can suppose I've been receiving at a tea and came home on my wheel—or anything else it chooses. I don't care."

The manager gave up the point and reflected it was a good thing that stars were usually dependent on salaries.

"I wish before the next rehearsal you could manage to learn a little more of your part," he said, deferentially. "Then we can tell better how it will go."

"Oh, I'll know it all right when the time comes," said the star. "I never can make up my mind to learn it till the last minute. Why, last time I acted I left out two of my most important speeches at the dress rehearsal and mixed the others all up and the manager had perfect fits, but in the play the next night I didn't have to be prompted once. That's just the way I am. I can't help it."

"But it would greatly help the others if you have the speeches more exactly, so they could have their cues. All of them are not so experienced as you."

"Well, I'll learn the ends of the speeches anyway, so that they can tell what comes next," said the star, graciously.

"I know a lovely skirt dance," she added, after a moment's reflection. "It might be a good idea to run it in in the garden scene."

"Do you think it would be exactly suitable?" suggested the manager. "You see you are there to stop a duel between your brother and the man you are in love with."

"Oh, I can always get it in some way. I managed it even in 'Romeo and Juliet,'" said the star, easily. "I can say something about being downhearted and dancing to cheer up my spirits, while they are loading the pistols and talking with their seconds. It would look prettier in the garden scene than anywhere."

Whisky for Sore Heels.

Drug store business in Kansas is much the same as in other prohibitory communities. There is a large consumption of liquor for medicinal purposes. An examination of the drug store returns of Topeka for January discloses a prevalence of colds, over one-half of the affidavits on which liquor was sold being for "the disease of cold." The drug store records show that liquor is furnished for such flimsy reasons as "the disease of old age," the "loss of an eye," for "use in store," and for "cramp in the heel."

Hell.

To send a sinner to endless hell is no more a victory over sin than to corral the social evil within certain plague spots is a victory over that vice, or to banish all the Hawaiian lepers to Molokai is a victory over leprosy. The only victory over sin, as over physical disease, is to cure it—not to shut it up in any kind of nether world, there to propagate and fester and putrefy to the end of infinite time.—Rev. C. F. Henry.

Given Royal Honors.

Miss Maria Brooks, the English painter, is entitled to place the royal arms upon all her portraits and pictures. After she won the gold medal at South Kensington the Queen sent her an order to paint something for her majesty's possession. The honor carried with it the privilege that all British artists have.

The British Crown.

The ruby in the center of the Maltese cross on top of the British crown is the stone that was given to the Black Prince by King Pedro of Castile after the battle of Nejarra. Henry V. of England wore it in his helmet at the battle of Agincourt.

There is only one sudden death among women to eight among men.

Not to Be Caught.

The fortune-teller did not recognize the young woman as a former visitor, and that was where she made a mistake.

"You will have quite a romance," predicted the fortune-teller, after the usual preliminaries, which consist principally of the transfer of a sum of money from one person to another, "and in the end you will marry a light gentleman and ever afterward live happily with him."

"How about the dark one that you said I was to marry when I consulted you last week?" asked the young woman with very natural curiosity.

"Yes, yes, of course," answered the fortune-teller. "It seems a little conflicting, doesn't it? But it's easily explained. The gentleman is dark-complexioned, but light-hearted."—Chicago Post.

Her Grievance.

"There was a girl behind me at the theater last night," she said, indignantly, "who must be a dreadfully selfish, disagreeable creature."

"What makes you think so?" asked her mother.

"She had on a hat that was simply a monster in size."

"Well—your own hat was not small. You insisted on wearing your new one, you know."

"Yes. But nobody who sat behind that girl got a chance to see it."—Washington Star.

Two Sides to the Question.

Maternal Ancestor (profoundly shocked)—Arabella, I accidentally saw you kiss young Mr. Peduncle in the hallway last night! Don't you know such a thing is highly reprehensible?

Miss Arabella (flaring up)—No, I don't, mamma! I don't think it's half as bad as it is for you to kiss that deceitful Mrs. Dookins, when you know you don't like to kiss her at all!—Chicago Tribune.

The Silver Lining.

"Doesn't it annoy you, Mr. Proof-text, to have people sleep under your teaching?"

"Yes," was the reply, "it is rather humiliating, but then there is this advantage—I can preach the same sermon several Sundays in succession without the fact being recognized by the congregation."—Tit-Bits.

Proof Positive.

Wife (reading a letter from a distant friend)—How strange! Elfreda doesn't say whether her baby is a boy or a girl.

Husband—But doesn't she say it's beginning to talk?

Wife—Yes.

Husband—Then it's a girl.—Washington Evening Times.

Merely Habit.

She was a smart and pretty girl. She wrote the advertising for a large dry goods concern in town. Her mind used to run, so much upon her business that one day when she wrote to her lover to meet her that night at home she unconsciously added a postscript: "Come early and avoid the rush!"—Printers' Ink.

A Plausible Explanation.

"It is strange that with all the iron you have taken your teeth have not been affected."

"I suppose it is because I always take them out."—Washington Times.

Power of Memory.

"I remember when I was a girl—" began Miss Antique.

"What a wonderful memory you must have," interrupted Miss Sharp.—Tit-Bits.

LIFE NOT WORTH TEN CENTS.

Small Value Put Upon It by a Man Who Was Saved from Drowning.

From the San Francisco Post: A fat man carrying a gun and leading a dog made a dash down Market street for the Oakland ferryboat. He could have caught it if he had walked quietly along, but he became excited, and old Time commenced having fun with him. The dog would run on the wrong side of the telegraph poles and hydrants and tangle up his chain in the legs of pedestrians. By the time spent in apologizing and untangling the dog he was delayed until the little gate closed in his face. Then he ran around to the big gate, dodged around a mail wagon, and made a run for the boat. The deck hands raised the apron and the boat moved slowly out, but he was determined to catch it, and, gripping his gun and dog chain a little tighter, made a run and sprang into the air. The boat was only six feet away, but the dog balked the apron. The hunter stopped in the middle of his leap, his feet flew out toward the steamer, and he dropped into the bay like a load of hay. A small boy who was fishing from the wharf dropped his pole, splashed into the water and towed the fat man to a pile, where he clung till a boatman pulled him out.

"My boy, you saved my life," he exclaimed enthusiastically, as he kicked the dog and tried to wring the water out of his shotgun. "Let me reward you."

He thrust his hand into his clammy pocket, and fished out a wet 10-cent piece. "There, my boy, take that; but don't spend it foolishly."

"No, sir; I can't take it, sir." The boy pushed the generous hand aside. "I didn't earn it."

"Why, you saved my life, boy."

"Yes, I know it, sir, but it ain't worth 10 cents."

CAN'T HELP TELLING.

No village so small. No city so large.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, names known for all that is truthful, all that is reliable, are attached to the most thankful letters.

They come to Lydia E. Pinkham, and tell the one story of physical salvation gained through the aid of her Vegetable Compound.

The horrors born of displacement or ulceration of the womb:

Backache, bearing-down, dizziness, fear of coming calamity, distrust of best friends.

All, all—sorrows and sufferings of the past. The famed "Vegetable Compound" bearing the illustrious name, Pinkham, has brought them out of the valley of suffering to that of happiness and usefulness.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Fashionable Hints For Stationery—White Trimmings For a Dark Gown.

It is said that warts may be removed by applying to them night and morning a liquid obtained by steeping the rind of lemons in concentrated vinegar for a week. The application must be made with a small brush.

Lemon juice is often recommended for softening and whitening the hands, but it must not be used too frequently, as it has a tendency to dry and shrink the thin skin at the root of the nails.

The fashionable boot for street wear is of kid and has a patent leather tip and a heel of medium height.

Green and the shade known as "leopard," as well as violet, are favorite tints for fashionable stationery. Gray is also much liked and is particularly pleasing when it bears a cipher in gold or silver. Flowered paper is a novelty, the pattern running all over the sheet. Black ink is the only permissible variety. Blue and violet inks, although they flow well, are too closely associated with business and law to lend themselves gracefully to social correspondence.

Now that white is so fashionable a pretty way of freshening a dark gown is to add white facings. Revers, cuffs and perhaps a vest may be made of white cloth and will give a very satisfactory effect.

China silks and ribbons are exceedingly fashionable, and chine parasols are the latest development of the fancy. Some are alike all over. Others have a border. China effects have been copied in cotton goods for shirt waists and wash gowns.

The illustration shows a tailor made gown of thin suede cloth. The bodice is buttoned at each side of the tablier, near the foot, with silver buttons, and the lower edge of the skirt, as well as the lapped portion, is bordered with suede and maroon galloon. The bodice is draped under a silver buckle on the left shoulder and buttons down the right side with silver buttons. The gigot sleeves and the edge of the bodice are finished with galloon. The belt and collar are of maroon velvet. The white straw hat is trimmed with cashmere ribbon and roses with foliage.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

OUTING COSTUMES.

White Bicycle Suits—Fashionable Goods and Colors For Summer.

The Parisian women who bicycle adopt some form of trousers almost universally. The very fact that this costume is so general makes it inconspicuous, and it is accepted by the public in as matter of course a way as the French public ever accepts feminine attire of any kind. The diamond frame wheel and drooping handle bar are much affected also.

White bicycling suits, including leggings, shoes and caps, are seen this year. They are of flannel or pique and look very attractive in the shop windows. Just how many minutes, however, the shoes and leggings would remain presentable if they were worn by a genuine bicyclist instead of a dummy one in a glass case is not certain. The gown would stay fresh longer, perhaps for the space of one moderate ride, if the roads were not dusty and if the rider did not happen to have a fall.

Mixed goods in gray, beige and tan shades are the most serviceable, as they will stand dampness and dust without sustaining damage. Chestnut, navy blue, dark green and black are also worn, but are more easily defaced. Shepherd's checks in black, blue or brown and white compose some of the imported costumes. Alpaca is a cool and comfortable material for summer, but is injured by moisture. Loose gloves are the rule. Bicycling is an excellent resource for wearing out old street gloves that have lost their beauty, but not their usefulness. As new gloves would be ruined in appearance at once it is quite as well to take old ones.

BICYCLE SUIT.

The cut shows a Parisian bicycle costume of mixed brownish goods. The bloomers are gathered into a band of chestnut velvet just below the knee. The short jacket has a ripple basque and a collar, belt and revers of velvet. The gigot sleeves have turned back cuffs of velvet. A pink shirt waist is worn and white pique gaiters. The sailor hat is of yellow straw and is trimmed with black quills.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A UNIQUE OVERCOAT.

It is Made of the Skins of Unborn Musk Oxen.

S. N. Malterner of Spokane wears an overcoat that is bound to attract attention, no matter where it is seen, says the Spokesman-Review. The coat is made out of fur of the unborn musk ox, and, while not only very rare, is exceedingly pretty. The coat is light in weight and were it not for the weight of the lining would seem as though made of the softest down. The color is a light silver gray when the light is upon it from one direction and as soon as the light is shifted it turns to a clear gray. When seen under a light not very bright it has the appearance of jet black. Mr. Malterner says that it has attracted so much attention in the eastern cities that he had to lay it aside to keep from being bothered answering questions as to what it was and where he got it.

"The fur of the unborn musk ox," said he, "is very rare. In fact, cannot be had for money. The way I got the fur to make this one was peculiar. Two years ago I made a trip to the Great Slave lake and in fitting out at Athabasca Landing I bought a canoe, paying $100 for it. It was along toward fall when I got back to the landing and there I met an old trapper, who had been hunting and trapping along the lakes and rivers for a number of years. He seemed to take quite a fancy to my canoe, although he did not say anything, but was looking it over carefully and noting its good points, as a horse fancier would a blood horse. Finally he stepped up to me and said: 'Say, mister, what are you going to do with that boat?'"

"At that time I had no expectations of ever going up in that part of the country again and, as the boat could be of little value to me, I answered, 'Just to show you that the Yankees are all right I'll give you that boat.' He was greatly pleased and, after looking it over again, he said: 'Well, I'll just show you that the old trapper is all right, too,' and, taking me over to his warehouse, he got a number of these furs and gave them to me. At a cash value they would be worth many times the canoe and they were his accumulation for a number of years."

"After making the coat I found that I only lacked two of having enough to make a jacket for my sister, and when I went on my trip down the Mackenzie this year I met the trapper again and told him that I would like to get three more. He loaned me the canoe that I had given him the year before, and when I returned to the landing in the fall he had three furs for me."

A card on the outside of office door says: "Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed.

The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets the best friend he ever met. There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure. They cure permanently.

FASHION'S REALIZATION.

The most perfect realization of what fashion has done for men in the clothing line is shown in our summer suits, made by Adler Bros. The purse is thought of as well.

FRANK H. BAACK.

Know ye the man where the fit of his clothing Is emblem of where he bought his new suit? Where the rage of his rivals, the loves of their sweethearts Now melt into madness, then bring a lawsuit? Where the fit of the coat, and the trousers and vest Are acknowledged by all to be of the best And will wear like leather when put to the test? 'Tis at BAACK'S the best clothier in town! Who rigs you out like a gentleman, not like a clown And no barrels are needed to walk thro' the town Because your clothes have given way, And your trousers are down.

Transvaal Leaders Charged with Bribery.

Pretoria, May 28.—As an outcome of the revelations of Lionel Phillips' private letter-book implicating prominent men of the Kruger party in the Rand for accepting bribes from the mining houses for advancing Rand interests in the volksraad, the Transvaal government has suspended Judge De Korte and has asked the Rand to appoint a court of inquiry. The Transvaal government is trying to suppress the scandal and the feeling is very bitter.

Filibustering Steamer Ashore.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 28.—A report has reached Miami, but is not yet confirmed, that the filibustering steamer Three Friends, which left here Saturday morning with a cargo of arms and ammunition ostensibly for Key West, but really for Cuba, was chased by a revenue cutter and ran ashore on a reef off Upper Matecumbe, one of the Florida keys.

Chairman Goudy Wins.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—Capt. Goudy, head of the republican state committee triumphed over his enemies yesterday. An attempt to oust the chairman on account of an imagined slight to General Harrison in the state convention, failed. His opponents say it was because Committeeman Wood of the Twelfth district failed to arrive. A proxy was sent, but he was not permitted to vote. It is claimed that eight members of the state central committee had signed a paper to vote for Goudy's retirement, but Caskey of the Third District voted with Goudy, and this left the committee six to six, and gave Goudy the deciding vote.

No Additional Tax on Beer.

Washington, May 28.—By a vote of 34 to 27 the senate Wednesday defeated the proposition to make an addition of 75 cents per barrel to the present tax on beer. This is in the shape of an amendment to the filled cheese bill, and the friends of that measure united with the opponents of the beer tax to defeat it.

Minister Taylor Interviewed.

Paris, May 28.—Hannis Taylor, United States minister at Madrid, in the course of an interview yesterday, said: "I shall be back at Madrid very quickly. I am glad to learn the state department has received assurances from Madrid that all existing contracts between Cuban tobacco growers and American manufacturers will be carried out. This is, in fact, all the United States government asked for, and the granting of its request is a very encouraging sign that the Spanish cabinet desires to retain pleasant relations with the American government."

Extra Session of Congress.

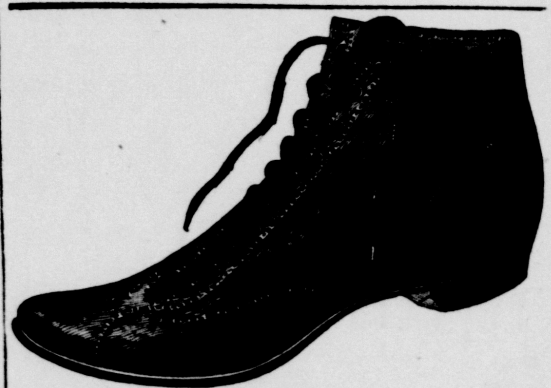

Washington, May 27.—"I have yet to find a republican congressman who does not believe there should and will be an extra session of congress immediately following the inauguration of the republican president next March," said Congressman McCall of Massachusetts today. His opinion seems to be general.

Chairman Dingley of the ways and means committee, a republican leader on the floor, said: "We should certainly have an extra session next March to enact wise tariff legislation, and if republicans control both branches of the next congress and the executive mansion, believe we shall have one."

Bank Employees Indicted.

Hannibal, Mo., May 28.—In the United States court the grand jury has returned an indictment against Crockett Ragsdale, formerly bookkeeper in the First National Bank of this city, for embezzlement. His plea was not guilty, and a continuance was asked for. The total amount of Ragsdale's shortage is not known, but it is supposed to be about $15,000. An indictment was also returned against Clarence Gray, of Macon City, who committed the same offense in the National Bank of that city. Gray entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.
